

Workkeys Assessments Can Meet Essential Skills Required for Graduation

There are a total of three Workkeys Assessments, two of which are recognized by the Oregon Department of Education to meet the Essential Skills requirements for graduation: Reading for Information and Applied Mathematics.

The third assessment is Locating Information and completes the requirements needed to earn the National Career Readiness Certificate (NCRC).

Students earning a 5, Gold, or higher on Reading for Information and Applied Mathematics can also meet their Essential Skills in Math and Reading needed to earn an Oregon High School Diploma.

Check with your district for more information.

The NCRC is recognized by The State of Oregon and
The Office of the Governor as an important part of Oregon's Certified Work Ready
Communities Initiative

NCRC Frequently Asked Questions
